

AMPLA EDUCATION

A Resource for Students to Amplify their Potential!

Finding and nurturing talent is now a greater possibility thanks to the will and vision of JULIANNA YAU, Founder of AMPLA EDUCATION.

Parents keen to nourish their kid's intellectual capacity and help them explore their potential traditionally opt for costly overseas education.

This needn't be thanks to home-grown entrepreneur Julianna Yau. In spite of Hong Kong boasting a range of education consultancies, Yau knew she could bring something more holistic to the table.

"Before setting up Ampla, I noticed that there were a lot of Hong Kong students with great academic potential but lacked the opportunity to fully appreciate their skills. In order to provide such an opportunity, I hand-picked an ideal lineup of consultants and tutors, experienced in their academic area and with backgrounds in guidance and mentoring to create this facility whereby more students now have the chance to amplify their potential!"

Individual Attention

Yau says: "the number of Chinese students studying abroad has reached an all-time high, causing a surge in the demand for overseas admissions consultancies.

Her company has responded by providing around-the-clock online tutoring courses to meet this increased demand, with an emphasis on applications to British academic institutions, as these have among the most positive records for employability and learning satisfaction amongst Chinese students."

She says her courses are designed and delivered by our consultants, all of whom are graduates of top schools and universities.

"We allow Ampla to stand out by catering to the individual needs of each client and providing top notch one-stop services which are customised and all-inclusive, from school selection, application strategy, essay review, to exam preparation and interview coaching. Our tutors' expert knowledge in Hong Kong and overseas school curricula enables us to combine the best teaching methods and tailor-make classes specific to each student's needs and optimise their performance inside and outside school."

Feel the Difference

"We offer inquiry-based lessons taught in an engaging manner to enable students to enjoy and develop an interest in their academic work. In addition, we match students with a mentor, chosen from our global network of consultants and tutors, who is an alumnus of their dream school or university so that our students can tap into their academic passions, surpass their limits and pave their way to a successful future. Throughout the tutoring process, we routinely provide comprehensive reports analysing the students' performance, allowing our students to have a clear set of goals to pursue.

Hundreds of education consultancies have been springing up in Hong Kong in the last few years. Ampla has responded to the ensuing competition by recruiting and retaining only the best-qualified educators, as well as keeping the company at a size that ensures we have a close relationship with every client.

Within the next decade, Ampla intends to have offices in other cities. In addition, we intend to expand our courses to include tutoring in modern foreign languages and coding," Yau says.

To the Next Level

"During admissions cycles or exam season, Ampla provides comprehensive support to its clients. In addition, we offer continued support once students have gained admission into the school of their choice, in the form of language and cultural courses, allowing them to experience a smooth transition into the next chapter of their lives."

Post-admission assistance is also offered in the form of online tutorials and mentorship support. ■
