

CHONG WAI SYSTEM LIMITED

Serve the Public Trust

FRANKIE CHUI's version of progressive society is one protected and secured by technology.

Since 1996, Chong Wai System Limited has designed and installed numerous electronic security systems for residential and commercial complexes. At the beginning, the company would be contracted solely upon construction of a new building. They soon discovered a general lack of similar measures elsewhere.

"There were particularly more crimes in the independent houses in the New Territories, but no electronic security company for enquiry and professional service," says Frankie Chui. In 2002, the company set up shop in Tai Po to better serve the public.

"We strive to protect citizens' lives and property. For over ten years, we gained trust from our customers, serving thousands of citizens, companies and public organizations professional one-stop services, from consultation, to installation and maintenance."

Enabling Society

"Electronic security and other intelligent technologies are essential to any prosperous country," says Chui. "In this highly populated city, professional electrical security systems combined with intelligent devices bring convenience and confidence. Thus, the demand will keep growing."

State of the art CCTV, intruder alarms, access control, and internal communication systems, are just a few items in the company's menu. The optimum functional implementation of these devices is its speciality. By principle, Chong Wai caters to all possible concerns clients may have when procuring its service, from architecture to after-sales, to put them at utmost ease.

"Our work is an all-round operation, including feasible advice, professional design proposal, equipment, system installation, maintenance, and 24-hour surveillance, using multi-purpose systems adaptable to any environment."

The company continuously tests new technology and improves its designs. It remains updated on the latest and most effective security applications and mechanisms from established partner firms from around the world.

"Our technology exists to benefit our customers. We want them to feel safe and assured. Therefore, we are ceaselessly expanding our research & development and customer services departments to bring in better services and products. We focus on quality and effectiveness, so that we are able to guarantee our customers' absolute safety and comfort."

Area Secured

19 years of experience in electronic security systems has won Chong Wai recognition in the field, a good reputation and stable customer base, owing to excellent services and professionalism.

"We managed to keep high quality, responsible and effective standards, always upgrading devices and enhancing our services," says Chui. "We gained the trust of more than 10,000 customers in Hong Kong, Macau and Mainland China, ranging from residential estates to schools, shops, malls, hotels, offices, factories, warehouses, ships, railways, tunnels and many more. We address the high-risk, high demand facilities such as government buildings, embassies, airports, harbours, terminals, and financial nerve centers."

Establishing itself as an internationally acclaimed brand in the industry is among Chong Wai's many aspirations. It will however, stay true to its primary purpose, to ensure the security and protection of property and life for everyone, through intelligent technology. ■
