

PANOCEAN GROUP

We'll Take Care of the Details

Business owners and investors turn to JULIANA TO and GILBERT CHAU for their invaluable set-up and support services.

The business allure of Hong Kong goes well beyond lower taxes. This hub of commerce and finance houses all the faculties necessary for building any enterprise. Juliana To and Gilbert Chau's Panocean Group has seen through many a company's founding, and continues to support these organizations with a wide range of services.

Starting a company is a tedious affair in any territory. Panocean Group addresses these concerns with capacities in incorporation and business registration, both in Hong Kong and offshore markets such as Mainland China and Singapore, as well as secretarial, accounting and auditing services, in a list of administrative, legal and financial functions.

Quality Service Since 1988

Panocean Group started as a small secretarial services company. In the past 27 years, it further diversified to include accounting management, company strike-off and trademark registration, among others.

The early 1990's saw the Hong Kong property market steadily rise along with the booming economy. "At the time, speculation in the property market created a phenomenon wherein some speculators would have to use a Hong Kong limited company for their investment purposes," says Director Juliana To. She and Co-Director Gilbert Chau have had several years of experience in the legal field prior to Panocean Group's establishment.

"The need for limited companies for investment rather than commercial purposes increased significantly back then. In order to meet market demand, we set up more 'ready-made' companies. Even after office hours, we can provide readily available legal entities for our clients' immediate use."

Apart from its basic offerings, quality service and attitude are defining characteristics that the company imbues. "Gilbert Chau and I personally handle all general affairs and client conferencing. We make it a point to reply to all emails and instant messages with no delay. Having good communication is precisely why we fully understand what clients need and how we provide them swift and appropriate services."

Clients overseas have attested to the company's quick response and diligent work in attending to their needs, despite being in different time zones. This degree of professionalism sets it apart in the industry.

Proven Track Record

Any organization that endured the tumult of both the 1997 East Asian

Financial Crisis and the 2003 SARS epidemic knows that the economic climate can make a turn for the worse without notice. Such a group, however, would also be aware of what it takes to weather any market downturn. "Poor economic situations take place in a cycle every few years. We can't escape them; although, if we persist, we not only can survive, but we can capitalize on the situation to secure an even better position after, both for ourselves and our clients."

Today, more companies materialize, conduct business, and profit through Panocean Group's efforts. Deeply immersing in clients' interests, it continues to earn trust and recognition as a true catalyst for enterprise in the region. ■
